

Vocals – Drew

Like the rest of the band, Drew “P. Dogg” got his start in show business at an early age when he was cast as the man-eating Venus Fly Trap in the prestigious Bergen County Shore Drama Club production of Little Shop of Horrors at age 6. “Feed Me!” never sounded so musical. Now as an adult, Drew’s vocal chops and bandleading prowess are the cream in Vertigo’s coffee, the sugar in your spice. In addition to his soaring, elegiac performances on the Vertiginously arranged Brandy, Overkill, and Freedom 90, Drew is the only person alive who can sing “One Week” faster than the dude from Barenaked Ladies.

